MICHAEL FLYNN HONORED AT DIGNITY USA CONVENTION

Michael Flynn, long time Dignity Philadelphia member, was honored at the DignityUSA Convention this year in Minneapolis, MN. Michael received the Michael Bushek Service Award for demonstrating exceptional long-term service to Dignity at the national level. The award is named for Michael Bushek, longtime DignityUSA national newsletter editor. You make us all proud Michael Flynn!

REPORT ON DIGNITY'S 2013 NATIONAL CONVENTION

by Dick O'Malley

Attendance at the 2013 DignityUSA Biennial National Convention in Minneapolis was good – a little under 300 registrants – somewhat less than the 2011 convention in nearby Washington D.C. which has a location that is easier and cheaper to reach being located on the east coast. The convention had something of interest for almost everyone. I would like to focus on the new phenomenon of the large number of young adults who attended the meeting and on a workshop given by a highly acclaimed Christian theologian, Dr. Patrick Cheng, based on his recent book: “From Sin to Amazing Grace.”

Dignity now has a national Young Adult Caucus. DignityUSA estimates that 30 young members, aged 20 to 30, attended the convention, with a few more between 30-35. While they came from all over the country, from Boston to San Antonio, three chapters, Boston, New York City, and Washington, D.C. are significantly represented in the Young Adult Caucus. The Caucus distributed an invaluable handout on “How to Grow a Young Adult Presence in Your Chapter: Tips from the Dignity Young Adult Caucus.” In it, the caucus addressed two prime questions: (1) how do you attract young adults and (2) how do you keep them in the chapter.

Most young adults rely on the electronic media to communicate with one another, including Facebook and Tweeter, as well as up-to-date websites. They also pay attention to public displays of visibility, such as Pride parades and festivals. Once they come to a liturgy, how do you keep them coming back? Vibrant and good music, plus liturgies help, as well as appeals to spirituality, and involvement in the liturgies, such as gift bearers initially, and being welcomed and mentoring. Having a “safe space” is crucial to keeping them; a strong policy forbidding unwanted physical contact or sexual advances is also very important. At the kiss of peace, for example, start with a handshake, not a hug and certainly not a kiss. This advice applies not only to young adults but to anyone. Being a “hugger,” I paid particular attention to this advice.

The Young Adult Caucus in Minneapolis showed great interest in a newly suggested idea of inviting young adults from nearby chapters to a retreat or a trip to the shore. All in all, with the new Young Adults Caucus, the Vatican may not have heard the last of Dignity for a long time to come.

NOTES ON A WORKSHOP

In Dr. Patrick Cheng’s workshop on “From Sin to Amazing Grace – Discovering the Queer Christ,” he makes the distinction between two different models of sin: the “crime-based” model of the Roman Catholic tradition and the “Christ-based” model of Eastern or Orthodox Christianity. In the former, Christians were provided a list of sins, such as, at one time, eating meat on Friday was a mortal sin, for which violation a Christian would suffer either in purgatory or in hell. In the Orthodox tradition, sin represented a failure to follow Christ’s teachings or example, such as to love thy neighbor, or a failure to follow the model of Christ as the liberator from oppression, or the model of Christ who wants us to love ourselves and not feel shame or self-hatred. In the latter model, sin represents a separation from Christ and forgiveness would be an attempt to reunite oneself with Christ. Sin, Cheng contends, represents isolation; on the other hand, grace fosters interdependence or activism.

Cheng's ideas seem very relevant to Dignity Philadelphia's plan to make confession or the Sacrament of Reconciliation more available at its liturgies. [Giovanni's Room at 12th & Pine Streets would be able to order his book for anyone interested.]

The success of Dignity's 2013 Convention was probably evident in the fact that over 100 persons have already registered for the 2015 convention in Seattle (Boston will host the 2017 meeting).

FALL POTLUCK – SEPTEMBER 15

Time to get your Dignity cookbook out and get ready for the upcoming potluck. As many of you know, we have not gotten together since the anniversary dinner. We gave Louis and Leo a couple of months off, but now, it is time to start planning again. As you all know, we can always use the protein food group (turkey, ham, beef, poultry and tofu!). So you may consider making meatballs, ribs, sausages, etc.; and side dishes are always welcome. If you are unsure what to cook, talk to Louis or Leo for suggestions. Remember, the potluck starts at 4:30ish p.m., but members are always welcome to come as early at 3ish to help decorate and set up a welcoming environment. We look forward to seeing all of you at this event. It gives all of us a time to get together, renew friendships and share gossip network with other Dignity members. Bring your friends, family, acquaintances, and join us for this fun potluck. We look forward to seeing you.

COMMUNITY EMERGENCY FUND

Since the hot weather has us running our air conditions all day, we may realize that we are short on money for utilities. And if we pay the utilities, are we going to have enough money for food? If anyone finds themselves deciding on where to budget your money, remember that we have the Dignity Community Emergency Fund. This fund is ready to help those in our Dignity Philadelphia community who are going through difficult times in this rough economy. If you, or a member of the Dignity community you know, could use some extra funds for those necessities of life, please let a member of the Steering Committee know of the need. All referrals will be treated in confidence and with sensitivity. Please talk to one of them, or email President.DignityPhila@gmail.com

50/50 FOR AUGUST

*MANNA was founded in 1990 by seven members of the First Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia. This mission was to help comfort people dying of AIDS at a time when ignorance of AIDS and the stigma associated with the disease was at its height. Often shunned and isolated from family and friends, these people often found MANNA to be the only source of love and care they knew...as well as the only source of nourishment and nutritional support they needed during their time of medical crisis. MANNA meals helped sustain them during the often dark days and lonely nights that followed their diagnosis.

In 2006, MANNA expanded its outreach to neighbors with other critical illnesses – cancer, renal and cardiac disease and diabetes. Today, operating from a renovated 10,000sq foot facility on Ranstead Street in Philadelphia, MANNA has a staff of more than 30, a full commercial kitchen and a fleet of trucks that bring warm and nourishing food to our ill neighbors in Southeastern Pennsylvania and southern New Jersey.

Three meals a day...seven days a week...52 weeks a year – MANNA's care and concern defies borders and boundaries to reach out to those at acute nutritional risk due to their illnesses. Each month MANNA delivers 65,000 meals to those who struggle with serious diseases. They feed, nurture, and support. And they do it all complete free of charge.
